Skeena River Steelhead and Coho on the same day.

Skeena River Steelhead available on the main stem and a few "prime" tribs. These are all "wild" fish. Skeena River Coho available on many, many rivers both inland and even in Coastal streams. WOW lots of choices. If you are interested, lets say, to hook both Steelhead and Coho on the same day just contact me Noel Gyger noel@noelgyger.ca. I look forward to hearing from you soon. Book before end of October 2019....or next year :-)?

Recommendation from Cuchulain Hammilcar I've been fly fishing with Tracey and his Steelhead Heaven for the last 10 years or so. At the start the entire setup was good, now it is excellent. Tracey and his team have given me excellent value over the years. The rivers in his portfolio are some of the best in the world. For the fly fishermen/women out there I suggest taking a double hander switch rod with you. Tight lines...

Understanding website statistics

Page Views

The “page views” statistics give a clear indication of site traffic. “Page view” measures the entire page, and tells you how many times people have visited that particular page. By understanding “page views” and knowing which pages are being looked at, you can determine the overall popularity of a site, and which pages within it are being viewed most often.

Visits

“Visits” are one of the more useful measurements of web statistics. A visit includes all of the pages viewed by a visitor to your site. The measurement of “Visits” begins when a person enters your site and ends when the same visitor leaves the site or remains idle for a period of time (usually 30 minutes). Usually, one person visiting your site 15 times is counted the same as 15 people visiting one time each, so you can see, that while useful, the measurement is not perfect.

Unique Visitors

This is a more precise way to measure visitors to your site, as each person is counted only once, regardless of how many times they visit during a fixed time frame, typically 30 days. They are measured according to their unique IP address which is a number allocated by an ISP (Internet Service Provider).

Please feel free to contact me Noel Gyger anytime and I will be happy to send you the latest statistics for our website via e-mail PDF attachment. Thank you for your interest.

Fish guiding for river and ocean:

This weeks groups are catching some nice fish with the option for the river and or ocean.
Join us this summer for your Staycation at the Kitimat Lodge.

REPORT - May 21, 2020 from Tracey John Hittel of Kitimat Lodge.
Fish guiding has started:

A long weekend full of action and adventure.
Starting our trip off with a swimming deer in the saltwater, while humpback whales work the krill balls right near the boat.
The Chinook Salmon are on the move and the fight is off the charts.

Fresh Halibut lurk at the sea bottom and as you can see in the pics below we had some good luck. While on the ocean the serenity and scenery is amazing, very peaceful.

REPORT - April 14, 2020 from Tracey John Hittel of Kitimat Lodge.

Fish guiding update:

It's spring steelhead time in the Skeena and Kitimat regions. Although the fish are moving in, the clients are not. Tourism is at the lowest we've ever seen and seasonal angling guides will struggle from the virus financially. Non locals are told to stay away from communities regarding tourism. Staying mentally positive is important, and for me, Steelhead fishing has and will continue to be that crutch.

I'll try to post as many pics as I can for our guests that were coming to visit us and give you that armchair feeling thru my posts.

Stay Safe and stay positive!

Italo Labignan, host Canadian Sportfishing TV series takes you tributary Steelhead and Salmon fishing in the coastal rivers of northern BC. It's actually the Kalum River in late August 2016. The YouTube video plays for 23:19 minutes. Italo and friends fished mostly with BER float reels. They are simply the best. Italo was guided by Tracey John Hittel (interviewed 12:18) of Kitimat Lodge. I even made an appearance (interviewed 16:36) Hope you enjoy the show, you will learn allot. Italo Labignan of Canadian Sportfishing sent 2 pics and wrote a few words of his recent trip to Kitimat Lodge August 9 to August 13, 2019:

“Our whole BER Owners Group had an amazing 3-days fishing out of Kitimat Lodge, BC. For most of our group it was their first trip to the Kitimat/Terrace, BC region and right off the bat they were captivated by the scenery. When they hit the rivers and ocean they were blown-away. From the drift-boat and jet-boat adventure to get to remote fishing spots to hooking and battling 3-species of salmon and steelhead. We’re already looking at best dates to head back in 2020!”

Recommendation from Cuchulain Hammilcar I've been fly fishing with Tracey and his Steelhead Heaven for the last 10 years or so. At the start the entire setup was good, now it is excellent. Tracey and his team have given me excellent value over the years. The rivers in his portfolio are some of the best in the world. For the fly fishermen/women out there I suggest taking a double hander switch rod with you. Tight lines...

This is the first post I have ever made to acknowledge the good works of people who make our lives that much more special. What a great day we had with a Kitimat Lodge Charter. It started by meeting Donny our guide for the day. He was awesome and did everything possible to make our day one to remember. Our outing started as a boat ride to the hot springs and became a trip of breathtaking moments. We all agreed that watching whales frolic on the water was the highlight of the day but a hot spring soak and Donny's masterful way of sharing his love for nature, fishing and his job were close seconds. Tracy and Kitimat Lodge come with the highest recommendation. Donny you are awesome and made our day trip one which will last a lifetime, we are thankful to have spent time on the water with you.

Kalum River:

Sun August 2/20 4:21am

Steelhead fishing is very good right now. Fly, spin and conventional are working well. Water is very, very low so be careful if you are running a jet boat. Drift boats and rafts would be a better idea. This river has four runs of Steelhead, spring, summer, fall and winters. Chinook will be coming in soon. Good luck. If you need a fishing guide, I work with the best ,, contact me noel@noelgyger.ca anytime and I will set it up for you.

It does not get any better this ♥ It is NOT too late to book a guided fishing trip on this beautiful river. Contact me anytime if you are interested.

We called this boat our "Super Boat" it was a 19 foot fibreglass drift boat with wooden frame completely covered in plastic. We had a propane heater, kept us toasty warm and we kept Steelheading all winter no matter what the weather. Sorry this pic does not show much of it. I thought I had better pics, I searched my files today but could not find them. The angler above is Terry Munday; I think the temperature outside was -12C. I took this pic from the Podcast:

The Podcast was all about the members of the Kalum Drifting Club and all the fun we had.

To watch ALL the Podcasts cast on this link: <http://www.noelgyger.ca/podcast.htm>

Note: in those days we didn't take many pics using the current "Keep `em Wet", but we did care and tried to keep the Steelhead out of the water for no more than a couple of seconds if at all. Long live our wild Steelhead...

In May of 1991 I did a TV fishing show on the Kalum River with Larry Schoenborn FISHING THE WEST fame! Wow, that was 26 years ago and my beard is not full gray and look at those neoprene waders:-) Our plan was to catch both Chinook and Steelhead on the same day and I must say "we did it" !

TITLE of this video: Rocket Boat Steelheading - play time 5:48 minutes.

VIDEO INFO: I had the pleasure of fishing with Calvin Higano, Ron Wakita and Glen Kilcup on the Kalum River on Tuesday morning, April 20, 2010 for about four hours. Glen invited us on this trip with his Jet boat crack of dawn. We hooked 4 Steelhead and landed 2 plus a bunch of Trout. We landed one Steelhead using a silver BC Steel spoon with 3 OTT Gamagatsu <http://rapala.ca> Siwash hook rigged up on a 7' Trophy XL rod <http://redlsports.com> and an Abu Cardinal 704 <http://www.purefishing.com> Spinning reel spooled up with 30lb Tuff line Duracast <http://www.tuff-line.com> This rod and reel Combo handled this Kalum River Steelhead very nicely and was caught and released using Gibbs Catch and Release Net <http://www.gibbsfishing.com> The Gibbs C & R Net has a very soft mesh which allows anglers to net Steelhead and release them unharmed back into the river. Calvin landed the other Steelhead using a Sage 2106 rod and a Shimano Calcutta 250TE reel <http://fish.shimano.com> Calvin was the "Hot Rod" on this trip! Calvin landed one and had another 2 Steelhead on which released themselves (AKA long-line-release) after a bit of a tussle. Calvin is a very gifted angler who has brought some very effective Steelheading techniques to the North West. One of his techniques Calvin calls "Dredging" and another would be the method which he cures his bait. Calvin uses Pautzkse's Pink Fire Cure on both his Chinook roe and on his Prawn bait. As most Steelheaders already know the quality of the bait is critical to Angler success. A huge THANK YOU to Glen for an awesome morning fishing trip on the Kalum!

Here is some info on Glens custom Rocket Jet Boat: This boat has a top speed 48 MPH with 450 HP pushing water through a Hamilton Jet with a 10 inch impeller. When this thing takes-off, hold your hat and hang on! The Teflon bolted to the bottom of the boat allowed us to skim over the shallowest of water.

Rescuers are warning boaters and anglers that the log jam that claimed the life of a boater in July last year is still very much a threat. Kitimat Search and Rescue's Manny Arruda said the log jam, located on the Kitimat River downstream from the Red Bridge, or 18 Mile Bridge, is unavoidable for anyone launching a boat upstream. "It goes right across the whole river. It's totally unsafe for anybody to be launching from the bridge," said Arruda. "There's no way of getting around the log jam – you come around the corner and it's right there."

District of Kitimat Council voted Monday September 18 five to two to create a "working group" of "concerned citizens and community groups" to consider the future of riverbank camping along the Kitimat river. The working group will consider issues such as access to the river, pollution and how to control extended camping along the river. Cast here for more information.

My Number one "recommendation" for World Class Steelhead and Salmon Fly Fishing

Hi Folks, early on in my now 25 year fly fishing career I went on a lot of expensively disappointing fishing trips. Then in 2006 I discovered Tracey and his Steelhead Heaven outfit in beautiful British Columbia and have been going back ever since. The main rivers he fishes, the Kitimat, the majestic Skeena, and the Kalum are beautiful and abundant. Tracey and his guides are knowledgeable and well equipped and I advise you to listen to what they tell you (although many guests don't). You can fish single or double hand but there's no double that a Switch or Spey rod is more effective and energy efficient. Tracey's mission is to get you into the best fishing runs - then it's up to you! I also recommend staying at the Tracey's Kitimat Lodge where there's often same day caught crab on the evening menu. CU in 2019! Best...

Recommended Fly Fishing Gear:

In the low water conditions of early April, we generally used light sink tips to cover the shallow riffles and tailouts where Steelhead were holding. Type 3 and Type 6 tips were generally all that was needed for most conditions. With the higher flows of late Spring, and in particular on the tributary rivers, we've also been using Rio's MOW tips in a variety of weights and lengths to get the fly down to the fish. The Heavy MOW tips, made of T-14 material, have been particularly useful, in lengths of 5, 7.5, 10 and 12.5 ft.

As with March, best colours have been pink, black, blue and orange. When fishing the Skeena and its tribs, larger flies from 2.5" to 4" in length have been most productive. Smaller flies in a variety of weights in the 1" to 2.5" range have worked the best on coastal rivers.

When targeting Steelhead, we've been using rods in the 12.5' to 13.5' ft range, for a 7 or 8 weight line on the larger rivers. Our personal favourites for this fishing include the 7126 Sage TCX and the 8139 Loomis Dredger. When targeting Chinook specifically, we've been using heavier 9 and 10 weight rods in the 13' to 15' range. Single hand rods and switch rods have gotten the nod on the coastal rivers. In particular, I had a chance to fish a 8116 Sage One rod and can confirm that it's a very good rod that's ideally suited to the coast!

Rods, Reels, Lines: For Steelhead - Spey rods in the 12' to 14' range, with a Skagit head to match. A 7126 TCX paired with a 500 grain Skagit Flight and Loomis 8139 Dredger with a 525 grain Skagit are excellent choices. A good quality disc or cork drag reel (e.g. Islander and Ross) with a minimum of 150 yards of 30 lb backing. For Spring Chinook Salmon, same as above, except with heavier gear - 9 weight minimum, 10 weight better.

Sink Tips and Tippet: A 15' Type III and 15' Type VI for most shallow water applications, and a variety of MOW tips - medium (T-11) and heavy (T-14) for deeper and/or heavier water. Always 15 lb Maxima Ultragreen for Steelhead. Increase tippet to 20 lb Maxima Ultragreen if targeting Spring Chinook.

Flies: Idylwilde String Leech, Bunny Tube, Marabou Tube and Popsickle, in shrimp pink, cerise, black, blue and orange.

REPORT - October 2, 2019 time to tell a story

A MUST READ: for old and new Steelheaders

Addicted to Chrome

"I'm craving steelhead!• " Is what I, an Albertan, said back in January when I felt the addictive rush of blood race through my veins followed by a jolting squeeze of muscles and goose-bumps scattering up my arms. It's a certain addiction that I'd say all steelhead fisherman endure, and its one that we are happy to say that the only rehab is to go steelheading itself. "Yes, It's time• ." And another trip to BC's northern coast was born.

Mid-April I arrived to my paradise within the Skeena Region of British Columbia. April is always an unpredictable time of year to fish. Some rivers are blown out from rain and glacial melts, some aren't holding fish, or you're too early or too late for the prime time of the runs. The temperature can vary from minus 5 to plus 15 and it can rain or snow for the entire trip, but it's a risk worth taking every time.

We set up camp along the river bank and got the rods and pontoons ready to be first on the water in the morning. The first two days fishing new water seem to always be the "learning days• ". Scoping out the holes, runs, and tail outs. A few challenging days of unsuccessful float-fishing went by and I realized a key detail. There was no way there wasn't steelhead scattered throughout this river system, I was definitely drifting my pontoon right over their heads and from then on I decided I had to fish everything! Sure the big hole looked promising, the swirls of a slick look intriguing, and the seam of a run seemed obvious, but I learnt not to underestimate a shallow ripple or a swift wide rapid and to be sure to fish the entire length of each spot. And from then on, I was on to them.

I'll never forget my first steelhead of the trip. I had one buddy fifty feet downstream and another buddy fifty feet upstream. I was drifting over some shallow, fast-moving water and I decided to anchor myself in the pontoon with my feet in thigh-deep water and toss a few floats out. Wham! My float submerged and I locked down on the centerpin and pulled the rod back. The steelhead darted down river, ripping line from my Islander. I gripped the rod high and it arched over my head while my palms and knuckles created the perfect tension on the reel. I started hollering at my buddy up-river to come help while I slowly backed up against the rivers current while trying not to lose the fish nor my pontoon that hooked around my waist. Together we landed a nice buck, snapped a few pictures and released it back in the river. My body vibrated with excitement and the steelhead cravings increase immensely-it was one of many to come.

The next few days we floated the same river, trialing different sections each time and drifting 10-hour days. Steelhead hit nearly at all the same holding spots as the previous day, and if there was one hit, it was likely you could get another.

To switch things up our crew headed to another river. This river was a few kilometers from the ocean and the steelhead were fast and ocean strong. We checked the tide charts and waited for the tides to roll in and the fish to race up. We walked and waded kilometers of water until our calves burned and thighs fatigued. Three of us fished this covert river for three days straight, hooking over seventy steelhead combined, and landing about a third of that. The fishing was surreal for an Albertan, content with hopefully landing a couple!

I will say though, we totally lucked out on weather! The water was clear on all the rivers, the mornings started off cool and warmed up to plus fifteen, and it didn't rain until the day we left. By the last day my body was spent. Every morning we were up at 4:00am, hauling pontoons and wading across currents. I would get back to camp each night thinking that I'd get to relax but then I got to gather wood, build a fire, cook dinner, then start another crazy adventure day.

I believe that's why a term "steelheading" was created. You don't hear "trouting" or "piking" or "perching" in Alberta. It's more than just fishing for a specific species. It's its own kind of adventure. It's the research, the hunt, the perseverance, the adrenaline, and the reward that all play together to make this crazy addiction one that you wouldn't want to live without, and that being said, I cannot wait for my next dose of "steelheading".

Spring fever is here and the Sturgeon Bite is ON!

The North Saskatchewan River is one of the TOP 10 longest rivers in Canada, originating from the Canadian Rocky Mountains and emptying into the Hudson Bay. It is one of the most diverse rivers in the country and is home to multiple species of fish! Here in Alberta we are fortunate to be able to catch, tag, and protect our residentary Lake Sturgeon and they are definitely one of my favs! The patience needed to sit and wait for that one bite from these “dinos” makes the waiting game worth it!

Here in Alberta we are passionate about our Sturgeon and we as anglers, all work together to protect the “threatened” species. Check out: <https://mywildalberta.ca/fishing/safety-procedures/fish-handling/sturgeon-handling-practices.aspx> for information on safe handling of our Alberta Lake Sturgeon.

Last weekend I hooked into this Sturgeon from the banks of the North Saskatchewan River! My line hit the water at 5:00pm, hoping to be lucky enough to get that bite before the sun was to set. Suckers began taking the bait, building up my confidence that I had found a good spot but it wasn't until I was packing up my gear and accepting my defeat that my rod bent right over. I pulled back hard on the rod setting the hook and I knew exactly what was on the other end of my line! My sturgeon setup has remained the same for the last 6 years of sturgeon fishing and it has yet to lose me a fish! I've been using my 8'6 Fenwick HMX paired up with the classic Abu Garcia Ambassador C4 spooled with 25lb Fireline and tipped with the new Berkley Fusion19 Octopus Hooks (pinched barbs for easy release!).

If you are interested in catching a Sturgeon for yourself or any of the other North Saskatchewan fish such as walleye, northern pike, burbot, goldeye, mooneye, mountain whitefish, and a variety of suckers then check out Lunkers Fishing Adventures at www.lunkers.ca right here in Alberta!

And don't forget to check out the "Serben Farms" www.serbenfarms.com on your way out! After a wicked weekend of fishing I like to make a pit stop at my cousin's family store located of Hwy 28 by Smoky Lake, AB for organic fruits and vegetables, eggs, meats, and lots of Ukrainian treats!

Tight Lines Everyone!

Update Wild Salmon vs Farm virus

Hello, I feel it is important to keep a record on the spread of a farm salmon virus onto this coast. I continue to try to stop this, but the resistance within the Canadian government is strong, consistent and, so far, impossible to reason with.

They now still refuse to screen for the virus, but DFO also says they will now allow fish they know are infected with PRV to be transferred. This is a complete disregard for the three rulings by the Federal Court of Canada and the law. The only glimmer of hope is that this reckless decision was made during a caretaker government. It only benefits the three companies farming Atlantic salmon in BC.

Perhaps our new government will reassess this ASAP as the 2019 wild salmon return is the lowest on record in the history of this country, exposing their offspring to PRV as they try to migrate to sea puts them at risk of extinction. More on this later.

If you want to help, please contact your MP and ask that the decision to allow PRV-infected farm salmon into BC waters needs to be changed to align with the laws of Canada.

For the record: <https://alexandramorton.typepad.com>

Thank you, Alexandra Morton

Mon June 29/20 4:50am

Alexandra Morton still fighting to save wild Salmon:

Hello, Over the past few weeks I have sat across from DFO's senior Aquaculture and Science managers repeatedly in advance of DFO's 3rd attempt to decide what to do about all the PRV virus in farm salmon. DFO has thus far avoided responding to the court on this since 2016. I believe we have a Minister who might be willing to face this decision, but who is informing him on what occurred at these meetings?

Alexandra blog - From the Front lines

My over-arching concern is that the same group that caused the problem are the only DFO group at the table. How can they reverse their own history of decisions to respond appropriately to scientists and the court? Where are the wild salmon managers in DFO, shouldn't they be part of this decision?

Because so few witnessed what I saw, I wanted to create a record of it. I get that governments should avoid causing shock to industrial operators and I understand that wild salmon face many challenges, but I don't see why the decision to protect wild salmon has fallen into the hands of DFO's Aquaculture Division and I have real concerns about DFO Science manager's willingness to properly evaluate the science on the threat of PRV to wild salmon.

DFO management has destroyed any chance that the BC salmon farming industry had of developing into a blue ribbon industry and wild salmon are collateral damage.

We don't have the luxury of getting this wrong as the stunning failure of this year's salmon returns settles over us like ashes. I have tried to be gentle here, because I watched the DFO reps struggle, caught between policy and reality - mission impossible. But I have no tolerance for this situation. As a biologist I take very seriously my role in preventing avoidable destruction of one of earth's most generous and beneficial creations - salmon.

DFO has so much potential, but there is going to have to be an internal regime shift. The level of denial I witnessed has no place in a world facing a scenario so frightening most of us don't want to look at it.

Thank you, Alexandra Morton

Morton wins case against DFO on fish farms

If the mere presence of PRV in farmed Atlantic salmon smolts is sufficient to prevent licences from being issued, that could be devastating for the fish farm industry <https://bit.ly/2HVd9d2> "They basically don't have fish if they can't use PRV-infected fish" said Alexandra Morton

My honour to work with April Vokey - by Noel Fredric Gyger

April Vokey visits Noel Gyger in his office in Terrace BC and explains to him how she would fly fish "his" rivers. Noel listened to every word. He knows April is the very BEST. Noel knows every inch of every river in northwest BC but is always willing to learn more how to fish them.

My honour to meet Jim Teeny - by Noel Fredric Gyger

I first met the legend Jim Teeny in the early 90s when he came out with the late Larry Schoenborn to shoot a fly fishing Steelhead TV show on the Kispiox River. Larry had asked me if I could supply two drift boats, I said sure, no problem. It was an honour to be asked. One boat for Jim and Larry and one for the TV crew. I rowed one boat and my dear friend, the late Ed Schulmeister, rowed the other. My boat took Jim and Larry and Ed took the camera crew.

The regulation on the Kispiox is power boat ban and you cannot fish from the boat, the boats can be used for transport only. We launched above the Sportsmen's Lodge for a drift of about 6 miles. We covered a lot of water and fished many tail-outs and pools. Unfortunately we did not have any luck higher up. It wasn't until we got to our take-out where we found the Steelhead and Larry's camera crew shot a wonderful show.

Larry Schoenborn produced "Fishing the West" TV show and "Larry's Travel Agency" out of Portland Oregon, USA.. Ed and I were not paid but all our expenses were covered by Larry. I can honestly and proudly say Ed and I thoroughly enjoyed the experience. Jim had fished the river a few years back and knew a few of the runs, but at that time did not have a boat therefore his fishing was limited.

When the shoot was over and we were back in Terrace I invited Jim and Larry to fish on a few of our local rivers. We fished on the Zymoetz (Copper) River and a small tributary called the Clore. On the Clore, Jim landed a beauty. Larry could not fish as he had injured his right hand. We also fished the Lakelse River which at the time was crowded with anglers fishing for Coho. Jim blew away anglers with his casting skills by using his world famous "Teeny" lines and an assortment of "Teeny" flies. He could cast from one side of the river to the other with no effort. WOW did this look good.

From this trip we gained a lot of guiding business for my lodge. Jim knew many people. Many of them from Hollywood, such as movie star agent Skip Brittenham. Jim came back the next year with his wife Donna and Skip and his wife actresses Heather Thomas. Henry Winkler (the Fonz of "Happy Days" TV show) was supposed to be along but had to cancel last minute.

I fished with Jim and Donna on the Kitimat River in May of 1991 and landed a very nice Steelhead with one of Jim's flies, it was a Black #2 Teeny Nymph and a T-300 Teeny line. Before Jim's group left for home I bought a Jim Teeny Fly Vest for myself and a bunch of Teeny Nymph flies to sell at my lodge Tackle Shop.

Voices from the Skeena

An Illustrated Oral History

by Robert Budd, illustrated by Roy Henry Vickers

In this collaboration with oral historian Robert Budd, celebrated artist Roy Henry Vickers is inspired by voices from the past to illustrate the rich history of the Skeena River.

Book Description

The Skeena, second longest river in the province, remains an icon of British Columbia's northwest. Called Xsien ("water of the clouds") by the Tsimshian and Gitksan, it has always played a vital role in the lives of Indigenous people of the region. Since the 1800s, it has also become home to gold seekers, traders, salmon fishers and other settlers who were drawn by the area's beauty and abundant natural resources.

Voices from the Skeena will take readers on a journey inspired directly by the people who lived there. Combining forty illustrations with text selected from the pioneer interviews CBC radio producer Imbert Orchard recorded in the 1960s, the book follows the arrival of the Europeans and the introduction of the fur trade to the Omineca gold rush and the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

Open the pages to meet Robert Cunningham, a Anglican missionary who would later become the founder of the thriving Port Essington. Here too is a man called Cataline, a packer for whom no settlement was too remote to reach, and the indomitable Sarah Glassey, the first woman to pre-empt land in British Columbia. At the heart of these stories is the river weaving together a narrative of a people and their culture. Pairing the stories with Roy Henry Vickers's vibrant art creates a unique and captivating portrait of British Columbia that will appeal to art lovers and history readers alike.
